Use the specialized app to break your friends' desktop monitor into a million pieces. Activate the automatic screen breaking feature to launch the next prank image as soon as the current image is displayed. This is a prank app, so you may need to get a friend to help you actually execute the prank. Let me give you a try, I'll bring my own monitor this time. Prank Screen for Windows 8 Serial Key Features: * Initiate immediately after the initial prank image is displayed * Start a new prank with the previous prank-image as the background image. * Delay the effect of an image by 1-3 seconds. (The delay is shorter for the stronger the prank) * Set a maximum of 10 images (for now). * High quality image and sound. * Configure the prank to destroy the screen. * Configure the timer that determines the duration of the prank, and whether the image should be displayed when the prank ends. Prank Screen for Windows 8 Screenshot: User's reviews Great app By Peter - 15.10.2013 I love this app, it works very well. I bought it for a friend who has way more monitors than me. I have already started playing and am looking forward to many hilariously entertaining situations. App works great. Best Prank ever! By deltaboy - 15.09.2013 So far, it's the best prank app I've ever used. Even my wife thought I was actually having a computer problem when she saw the screen go to a black image. She couldn't figure out what was wrong, so we had to explain it to her. Works well and is not obtrusive. By Jerry - 19.09.2013 This app works well, and if you decide to buy it, I wouldn't pass up this package. It is really well done and clean. This is really good! By radnasal - 18.09.2013 Works great! No problems at all. A must have for us Windows users. Fun App By Vladimir - 11.06.2013 This is funny, the picture and sound quality is great. I am enjoying it a lot. Works great By Half Price - 09.05.2013 I'm enjoying this a lot. You have to use a high def camera so you will see what you are looking for.

Skatepark is an awesome open-source project, which aims to get rid of all the proprietary web frameworks and introduce a cross-platform, clean, simple JavaScript framework. It does this by providing a very simple, yet extensible, template system, with built-in support for several ready-made templates, as well as support for custom HTML and CSS. It also includes all the major features that developers need in a web framework, such as authentication and authorization, request dispatching, caching, internationalization, templating, and routing. So, if you need a simple, open-source web framework, that does all the boring stuff right, and offers ready-made solutions for common tasks, you can't go wrong by installing Skatepark.

MySpace is down for the count, and the good news is that you no longer have to suffer through the MySpace experience that almost destroyed it. MySpaceTV is a new service from Microsoft designed to bring you the ability to broadcast your videos using HTML5, Flash, or Silverlight. You can upload your videos from the MySpace site (you can also create your videos there or upload them from another service), and then use the tools to do anything that you want. For example, you could create a video blog in which you talk about your favorite places, or record a video and do it as a tutorial or an instructional how-to. Or, you could broadcast your videos to other people. (Yes, this is a biggy, but it's also worth mentioning.)
