Saturday, February 25, 2012 So after a long absence, I have been checking things out and have found information that I need to put into posts. I have been contacting the advertisers that was used on the Magic 8-Ball site at Trillian Central and should have a list in a few days, so if you have any feedback to give, please leave a comment. In the mean time please enjoy the new trailers for Trillian Pro and the Magic 8-Ball- What's different is, this magic 8-ball knows exactly how to answer questions. You don't even have to ask for it to come up with a question. You can simply search for phrases, things you may have misspelled, or just take advantage of the good ol' Magic 8-Ball feature which is one of the most unusual feature points of this Magic 8-Ball: You can view your previous answers and re-word them before replying to them in a different way. If you think you've asked a question incorrectly, just re-word your question and see if it does a better job of describing what you're trying to do. Or, you may look at another similar question the Magic 8-Ball made so you can see if your question has been asked previously. Questions you may want to ask How do you like your marionette If you took a question you were having trouble with and looked at the
