Q: How do I get a string from an array of string and remove anything that's not a number and/or whitespace? I have string array with a bunch of data, and I want to take out any strings that are not numbers or white space, to make the String array into an Integer array. The input looks like this: String[] example = { " " }; I want to make it: String[] integers = new String[example.length]; for (int i = 0; i < example.length; i++) { if (Character.isDigit(example[i])) { integers[i] = example[i]; } } } Moskva and Florence: A Meeting of the Minds It took four days to fly from New York to Florence. This took so long because the flight was from New York to Moscow, and then to Florence. Four days in Moscow, four days in New York, four days in Moscow, 3e33713323
