There is a dedicated section for this purpose in MyGuacamole, which makes it a real standout in the competition. The application can detect students, questions, as well as the answers provided by the students on the test. On top of that, it scans the test sheets to provide the corresponding score for each student as well as the total. This is a completely automatic process which helps you stay away from errors. Its visual interface makes it even easier to use. With its easy to navigate interface and clean layout, the application is a nice option to help you with academic life in a fast and efficient way. Edit marks, calculate results, and export There are a total of three files which need to be loaded, such as a student list, answer key, as well as an answer sheet. The first two need to be under the XLS format, while the answer sheet is a picture depicting the style sheet of the actual test. Since it works with Excel files, data input can easily be managed. The application displays the student code and name, as well as score and corresponding QR code. Next to the list of students are the corresponding answers. A dedicated section shows the preview of the test sheet. You can open the editor to modify answers of students. When you're done, the test can be checked against student answers to display corresponding scores you can then export as an XLS file. A few last words Taking everything into consideration, we can state that MyGuacamole is a reliable application which can save you a lot of time and minimize the risk of errors when it comes to checking test sheets.
