An Adjustment Layer is a way of making an image look different, by adding or subtracting something from it. You can apply effects to text, you can change the colour of an image, you can add or reduce the saturation of an image, or you can add an exposure or brightness effect. You can control all the settings in an Adjustment Layer by making changes to an individual track. For example, you can make a track's opacity from 0 to 1 by adjusting its opacity setting. You can make a track's brightness from 0 to 100 by adjusting its brightness setting. A Filter is a way of applying effects to any image. Filters come in a variety of shapes and sizes. There are filters for making images more colourful, filters for making images more faded, and filters for adding texture. Brushes are one of the most important tools in Photoshop. They can be used for a wide variety of effects, including painting, erasing, adding and drawing on images. When you use a Brush, you are drawing with the pixels on your image. 47 F.3d 1181 NOTICE: Federal Circuit Local Rule 47.6(b) states that opinions and orders which are designated as not citable as precedent shall not be employed or cited as precedent. This does not preclude assertion of issues of claim preclusion, issue preclusion, judicial estoppel, law of the case or the like based on a decision of the Court rendered in a nonprecedential opinion or order. William T. HACK, Claimant-Appellant, v. Jesse BROWN, Secretary of Veterans Affairs, Respondent-Appellee. No. 94-7034. United States Court of Appeals, Federal Circuit. Jan. 31, 1995. Before RICH, and MAYER, Circuit Judges, and COWEN, Senior Circuit Judge. DECISION PER CURIAM. 1 William Hack appeals from the final decision of the United States Court of Veterans Appeals, No. 93-0566, which affirmed the decision of the Board of Veterans Appeals denying Mr. Hack's claim for service connection. Because Mr. Hack has not demonstrated that the court erred in concluding that the Secretary satisfied his burden of proving that Mr. Hack's tuberculosis was not incurred in or aggravated by his military service, we affirm. OPINION 2 Mr. Hack served in the Marine Corps from August 1963 to January 1966, and contends that he has had a service-connected disability since November 28, 1967, the date of his discharge. As set forth in greater detail in the court's opinion in Hunt v. Derwinski, 1 Vet. App. 292 (1991), tuberculosis is presumed to have been incurred in or aggravated by military service. 28 U.S.C. Sec. 1111 (1982). The presumption of service connection is rebutted by a showing, by clear and convincing evidence, that the disease was not incurred in or aggravated by military service. 38 U.S.C. Sec. 1154(a). 3 The Department of Veterans Affairs Regional Office found that Mr. Hack had failed to rebut the presumption of incurrence because there was no evidence in the record as to his military duties. The Office found that Mr. Hack had not established any of the three bases for rebutting the presumption. See 38 U.S.C. Sec. 1112(c) (Rept. Service Gov't H
