Ever since it's release, Race Anywhere has come to be one of, if not THE most popular racing games of all time. Over the years, the title has been beat to a pulp, but now with its new 3D re-load 'Reload' version, the fun and excitement are back bigger and better than ever before! Be a Formula 1 Race Car Driver in over 100 dynamically rendered events and dozens of player-made races. Race, Drift, and Take Flight in more than 40 beautifully rendered real-world locations across the globe. When it comes to Pure FUN, there is only one - Race Anywhere! With over 60 cars from FIA Formula 1, MasterCraft Boat Racing and NASCAR; you will be racing in the most authentic, realistic and visually stunning racing series you've ever seen! Take on the blue ribbon "World Championship" of online multiplayer, local matchmaking for up to 8 players and 6 player online races. Race, drift, flip, stunt, race, and race some more in Race Anywhere! With stunning visual graphics, and the most in-depth online racing features for any racing game, Race Anywhere is one of the most ambitious racing games of all time! As we noted above, the clear intent of the parties was that KRC should pay GVC directly for the services GVC performed at KRC. Based upon the plain meaning of the contract, we hold that the open-ended phrase "at the time of the property transfer" encompasses the present, but also means that the parties anticipated that GVC would continue to work for KRC for the duration of the agreement. If KRC chose to terminate GVC, or if GVC chose to terminate its services at KRC, that would not constitute a breach of the parties' agreement. The plain meaning of the contract supports KRC's argument that it is only obligated to pay GVC the agreed-upon monthly rate for the services rendered. This plain meaning argument e79caf774b

Tim, Mary, Keisha, Matt, Brian, and John. .This invention relates to a magneto-optical recording medium and an apparatus for magneto-optically recording and/or reading information signals thereon, and more particularly to a novel magneto-optical recording medium which can be effectively optically written with laser beam and read out with a polarized light. Recently, as a new recording medium for optically recording and/or reading information signals, there has been developed a magneto-optical recording medium in which a recording layer of rare-earth metal such as terbium or gadolinium (Gd) is magnetooptically crystallized. A recording of information is effected by irradiating the recording layer with a laser beam to raise the temperature of the recording layer to a specific temperature or higher, thereby locally melting and amorphizing the recording layer. Subsequently, a cooling process is applied to the molten or "amorphized" recording layer, whereby it is crystallized again and a state of magnetic orientation is transferred from the neighboring magnetic layer to the recording layer. An information signal is written in binary form, or a series of tracks of information signals are recorded at the same time. The amorphized portion of the recording layer is heated at a relatively low temperature, therefore, such recording media are suitably applied to a recording and/or reading apparatus in which a comparatively short wavelength of laser beam such as near infrared laser beam is employed. Such a magneto-optical recording medium is based on a principle that an external magnetic field is applied to the recording layer in advance, whereby an in-plane magnetization of the recording layer is preliminarily arranged. The direction of the magnetization can be controlled by applying a bias magnetic field to the recording layer. A magnetic rare-earth metal such as TbFe or the like is used for the recording layer. An amorphization and crystallization of the recording layer are generated by irradiating the recording layer with a laser beam of a wavelength near the Curie point of the recording layer. Such a magneto-optical recording medium can be
