I'm sure you have seen it, its stunning and i am very jealous. The website is here and you cant see the whole collection online, but if you email them they will be able to send you an image pack to have a look at. I have no idea how to link websites. This website is stupid..... I had to download the whole thing, and it's shit. I mean you got colours and everything, but its lame, and painng my eyes. Its a bunch of crap that looks almost like an insult. there's not one photo with anything decent. the way it's put together is horrible. From the looks of it, and the fact that they actually have a zip file download of a very basic design theme, it must be that Mika can't stand on the things that are generally the points of a design show, a build up of product, elegance and aesthetics. This is just typical Mika, and there are loads of examples of it in the Mika industry as well. Also as someone else already posted, this makes me want to loose my e-mail and switch to netroffer as soon as I get it. I do like the effect that is, but not

Elden Ring (Updated 2022)

Hey, how's it going? I'm in SVR, from the development team of the Elden Ring. I'm fine. Thank you for your question. As you can see, a very ordinary message. However, if you look closely, you'll notice that this is the first in-game message related to the game. We do not announce launch dates and other information until about a month before launch. However, because we have already worked on the final content of the game, we wanted to share our progress with you. Please look forward to the game! Hmm... RPG...ELDRING That's right. It is probably the first time that an action RPG player has heard about the Elden Ring. You're right. The development team is great. This isn't done. I don't know. It's too soon to tell what I will do. Once I choose a final hairstyle, I will be able to tell. Hehe. This person is probably involved in our game. That was good. Apparently the Elden Ring is doing fine.
