The latest successful cyber attack was against a county election board in Illinois. That cyber attack attempted to affect the counting of votes in the 2016 presidential election. Although the cyber attack was unsuccessful, it demonstrated the significant increase in the threat of cyber-attacks. In July, the Russian government attempted to hack voter registration databases in 39 states. And in February, we saw the most sophisticated and far-reaching cyber attack in our history against our election systems. Some of the targets included: voter registration systems, voter-roll maintenance systems, and others. In response to the attack, our intelligence community and our election e79caf774b
