Photoshop Elements Adobe offers free software called Photoshop Elements, which is like Photoshop's stripped-down, stripped-down version. Photoshop Elements is designed for beginners who don't have much time or motivation to learn more about the intricacies of Photoshop. Elements is often available as part of a package that includes the program, along with a hard drive, and a download of a version of Photoshop, plus a free Web hosting service. Elements includes the same basic elements of Photoshop: layers, selections, adjustment layers, adjustment brushes, the Navigator, and more. It is a solid starting point for beginners. Elements can do many of the same things that Photoshop can do. It also has some features that are not available in Photoshop. You have the following main choices: * Elements has fewer tools: For example, it offers only one type of vector graphics tool, which is a path creation tool, unlike Photoshop, which offers five types. It does have the same control-click/Objects/Group command that Photoshop offers as well as the ability to create smart objects and channels. * Photoshop elements has fewer users: Elements is targeted primarily at beginners and intermediate users. In other words, you can't expect to create very advanced high-end graphics in Photoshop Elements, but if you are a beginner, Elements is a great beginner's program.

Q: How to get the latest Objectid from MongoDB collection? I'd like to store the newest ObjectId in the database if there is already one with the same name, but I don't know how to get the newest value in the list. Here is an example: [{name: 'bla'}, {name: 'flip'}, {name: 'bla'}] I'd like to make sure that the value with name 'flip' is stored, as it is the latest one. What would be the best way of doing this? A: You can use `toArray` for this. MongoDB emits a BSON Array for a BSONObject, and the latest element of an Array is the only element which has an index of -1.

db.collection.findOne({}, {name: 1}, {name: -1}).value.name

It is used to get the last element of the array, but for your case to get the last element of a sub-document you can change the path of the first `$sort` operator to a -1 indexPath: `db.collection.aggregate([{ $sort: { name: 1 } }, { $sort: { name: -1 } }, { $sort: { name: -1 } }, { $project: { name: 1,`
