3.. This is Windows 7 Ultimate which is a very powerful operating system for your PC.. Windows 7 with Torrent updated â€” Kickass Torrents.Q: Why are HTML form input tags (text/password/...) showing up as hex in the Chrome debugger? I've done a web form with a POST method to send the contents of an input tag to a server. (my input is an MP3 I wanted to upload to a website, so that I can play it on an MP3 player. It's encrypted with a 128 bit encryption algorithm) The problem is that when I click on my input field and look at the source code of the browser, I see: I think that the problem is that I'm using a Hex editor and it is actually showing the code of the input field (and the rest of the page) as hex numbers. How can I fix this issue? PS: I think that the source code is being retrieved from a database where the form input field is a stored procedure and I have tried to do a general text edit on the text but it doesn't work. A: You're seeing hex because you're looking at the Chrome JavaScript Inspector. Inspecting the page
