Dignity Health, the parent company of two of the nation's largest Catholic health care systems, announced Thursday it will raise the salary of all of its employees, including those who are not employees of Dignity Health as of Jan. 1, 2018, beginning this year. The company also said it will have a $20,000 Christmas bonus for each full-time employee and $1,000 bonuses for every two weeks of service. The bonuses come as the nation continues to grapple with the effects of the growth in income inequality in recent decades, as well as low-wage jobs and stagnation for many. "We believe that the most fundamental ingredient of the human dignity we seek to bring to life is the dignity of the labor of a wage — and by the way, a living wage," said Dignity Health CEO Harry Sherrer. "It is a fundamental part of how we craft the very person we seek to be. That is a fundamental ingredient of Catholic social teaching, and we believe it is part of Catholic healthcare.” Dignity Health covers a wide swath of the United States, but is well known for its work in California and its business dealings in Orange County. Not all workers at the health care system will receive the bonuses, and full-time employees will be eligible to receive them regardless of where they work. ID ID
