Cinema 4d Plugins Collection Library Pack

Cinema 4D has a shape tool for creating your own characters. There are two major ways to use this shape tool. The first way is that you make a movie clip with a sequence of frames where each frame of the movie clip has a shape that you want to be the character in the scene. The second way is that you use the shape tool to create a template or a mesh. For example, I may create a car shape and then duplicate the car shape to make another. I use the shape tool to make these copies. This is a “free” version of the plugins available for purchase. It is not a complete pack, and the plugins are not licensed for use under the Free Version, but they are available for a limited time. If you have purchased a license for this version, please go to the page to download the plugins. Otherwise, they are available for download here. Please note that plugins purchased in this pack that are not compatible with Cinema 4D versions under “10” may not work for you. The listed compatibility between versions is for informational purposes only. In the spirit of giving, you are invited to use this set of high quality plugins for free and help our partners get their products seen by the world. They may help with the cost of your PIII or P4 upgrade by ordering this pack as a means of compensation. Just go to the page to download the pack, and feel free to let them know we sent you. A number of purchasers of the plugins in the Cinema 4D Studio Series have requested, and we have been adding, a way to port this pack to Mac and Windows. A collection of themes is available for Mac, and while a number of the plugins will run on Windows, we need to confirm support for the remaining ones. We’re also working on the plug-in packs for the upcoming versions of Cinema 4D. Please wait for the notes section for an update on those. Thanks!
