VI. CONCLUSIONS. The conclusions arising from this study can be summarized as follows: To form a proof of the change in the total energy loss \hat{E}/Eu ... should not be derived from equations describing the equilibrium state, but from conditions that can be accepted as experimental. In particular, to prove the change in total energy loss \hat{E}/Eu in the Earth-Moon system, for example, data on the change in gravitational force are needed. Fig. 1. Schematic of the experiment Make a model \hat{E}/Eu , which would take into account the change of total energy loss, and apply this model to justify the change of total energy loss in the Earth-Moon system. 0946cee1be
