The opponent moves cannot act, but the player characters are also affected. If a character is hit by this move, it is delayed and must wait for their moment to act again. The carver then makes a design for the log using colored tape, a thin piece of wood and the provided stone carving pattern. Afterward, he cuts the tape and the wood around the pattern into a log shape. Next, he carves the log into a smooth surface, and now it is ready to be chipped.
