link: guitarmonik by sample hero another of sample hero's free kontakt libraries, guitarmonik, lets you use guitar samples from vintage korg, fender and gibson guitars, alongside bass samples from an emi 12 string. from the 10s and 19s, and 12s, with its mod wheel controls, the library brings to life the very best in classic electric guitar tone, including the fiery, sizzling, ethereal, and of course, the mellowly-strummed. the bass sounds use the inbuilt zend bass engine, but are also usable on the nord lead 2 and are routed back through the built-in bass effects. the library includes a set of semi-automatic strumming patterns and extra arpeggios. the individual kontakt instruments are split into 6 different keys and are fully routable. this means that you can set all parameters to any key you want and it will work, plus you can also mix and match different kontakt instruments in one project. this makes creating your own complete home-studio-ready mix of electric and acoustic guitars a breeze. the free companion to the stylophone vst kontakt instrument is syphonium syphon. this is a classic sample library for creating swelling, rumbling synth loops, and it comes with its own collection of 9 excellent, custom-designed synth sounds: chorus, harmonic, phaser, lowpass, noise, sine, saw, synth and wave. the library comes with a ready-to-use set of 24 of the most iconic synth sound presets, plus the synth construction tools to get you started on your own custom sounds. the synth features two different pitch ranges, two different types of modulation, and of course, the most advanced of all: polyphony. so whether you want to make a big, fat synth sound, or a small one, or an infinite one, syphonium syphon will do it for you, even if you don't have a clue about synth sound design!
