As is, this data is truncated (and badly so), but there are fields for: \"%TYPE\" which returns 7 \"CAST\" which returns 12 \"YEAR\" which returns 1986 I don't understand what is going on because the following is happening: I am using \"print_r()\" to echo out the results of the code There are 6 examples in the \"array\", each one is a record in that array There are 4 fields for each record \"%TYPE\" is 7 for all 6 examples \"CAST\" returns 12 for all 6 examples \"YEAR\" returns 1986 for all 6 examples I do not understand what is going on here. I have replaced the variables with * for clarity, but can be replaced with any code. A: The issue is with the left-facing arrow. This should work: $row = mysql_fetch_assoc($result); $row[\"%TYPE\"]; $row[\"CAST\"]; $row[\"YEAR\"]; So, it is telling you that this is not a string but a MySQL result set record. you're dealing with a malicious site. While parsing the javascript they inject in the page you are seeing they are dynamically reassembling chunks of data from https://www.cloudflare.com/, where there is a backdoor waiting. This backdoor seems to upload a payload to googleusercontent.com: https://www.cloudflare.com/client/js/en/v2.3.1/console.pack.js What is this.pack.js doing? According to the javascript it tries to navigate to https://dl.dropboxusercontent.com/u/ and http://g.twimg.com/ and https://dl.dropboxusercontent.com/u/ (if you droppedbox is not blocked by firewall) and do a download. Obviously they gain nothing from the first two steps. My guess is that this is done as a way to bypass security scans and browser extensions. It is very difficult to track this malicious behaviour, but to prevent it you can disable javascript. This will prevent the malicious javascript from inserting itself in a page. GMAC Mortgage Just Revved Up Their Dealer Acquisition Program If you're interested in a career at GMAC Mortgage, you're probably aware that there are new opportunities in financial services. But if you're interested in these new opportunities, you may need to act fast. GMAC Mortgage announced plans to close 200 dealers, as well as closings for an additional 100 dealers. This is part of the company's ongoing effort to re-evaluate its strategy as it looks to make the company a more focused business. The company has identified three major areas of focus that it wants to emphasize in order to improve the financial services business. They are pursuing, first and foremost, mortgage originations, more than half of which will be via existing GMAC Mortgage franchises. Then, they want to focus on working with more financial services companies to better align its products and services with their goals and needs.

Finally, the company wants to increase its presence in the multifamily industry. The new strategy should be a good thing for GMAC Mortgage, as it was said that, when the company was split into two separate businesses, GMAC and GMAC Home Mortgage, GMAC was “a little bit too big and a little bit too complex.” Now, it’s re-evaluating the company and putting some structure in place to be more focused and effective. The impact to you as a mortgage professional may not be immediate. 5ec8ef588b
